Along with about 35 women, I participated in the 4th of July Parade! Collectively we dressed as Rosie the Riveter and marched with sign that said "We can do it!" I guess we did it—we walked away with the grand prize! The trophy is in the front hall at Town Hall but it will soon be returned to Patty Lord, owner of Katie's Kitchen. I want to thank the organizers as well as representatives from Highway and the Municipal Electric Department who had equipment and floats in the parade. This event is an "all hands on deck" day for all municipal departments. It could not take place without the assistance of fire, police and parks and recreation. Wolfeboro is THE place to be in New Hampshire on July 4—that's for sure.

I attended the ribbon cutting ceremony for the Hope House. To echo what one of the speakers said, this is a BIG deal. This community should be so proud to have raised the funds to accomplish this important project. It's good to know that there is a safety net in Wolfeboro for families in need.

The Town of Wolfeboro had its own ribbon cutting event at the new Foss Field Pavilion. What a collaborative project! The success of this project involved the highway personnel and parks and recreation. As a citizen at the ribbon cutting said, "Wolfeboro uses its buildings to their maximum life, so it's nice to have something brand new." You will be impressed. Go take a look!
